"We are old friends, this bottle and I. We have known each other for over sixty years. When a boy I was always taking cold, but a few doses of this medicine would at once set me right. When a young man I had a weak throat and weak lungs. My friends feared some lung trouble, but greatly strengthened my throat, cleared up my voice, and took away the tendency for every cold to go to my lungs. Last year I had a bad attack of la grippe. The only medicine I took was from this bottle, and I came out all right. I know it's good, too, for asthma, bronchitis, pneumonia, croup. There are many substitutes and imitations. Beware of them! Be sure you get Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. Two sizes. Large and small bottles.

Cost of Living.

The average has increased steadily since 1896.

The Department of Commerce has recently made an exhaustive inquiry into the money spent for food by families of small or moderate means in this country, the investigation being confined to the households of wage-workers and salaried men earning not over $1,200 a year.

As a result, it was ascertained that the average income of such families was $827, and that the average expenditure for all purposes was $768. The amount spent for food was $327, or about forty-two per cent. The average cost of food per family in 1896 was only $296. In 1905 it was $344.

Every householder knows how the cost of food has gone up during the last few years, but it is interesting to have definite figures on the subject. It seems that this important item of family expenditure reaches its highest in 1902; when it was eleven per cent above the average for the ten years from 1890 to 1899 inclusive. The year of the lowest prices was 1896, when food cost sixteen per cent less than in 1902. These data were obtained by taking the prices of 814 retail merchants for a period covering the last thirteen years.

It was found that the average family devoted fourteen per cent of its expenditure to clothing, a little over five per cent to fuel and lights, and three and a-half per cent for furniture and utensils. For tobacco one and four-tenths per cent was spent.

The increased cost of food is offset to a considerable extent by better wages. In years of low prices, wages are low and employment irregular, whereas in years of high prices wages are high and employment steady.

When a Man Starves.

For the first two days through which a strong and healthy man is doomed to exist upon nothing his sufferings are perhaps more acute than in the remaining stages; he feels an inordinate, unspeakable craving at the stomach night and day. The mind runs upon beef, bread and other substances, but still, in a great measure, the body retains its strength. On the third and fourth days, but especially on the fourth, this incessant craving gives place to a sinking and weakness of the stomach, accompanied by nausea.

On the fifth day his cheeks appear hollow and sunken, his body attenuated, his color is ashy pale and his eyes wild, glassy and cannibalistic.

The sixth day brings with it increased suffering, although the pangs of hunger are lost in an overpowering languor and sickness. The head becomes dizzy, the ghosts of well-remembered dinners pass in hideous procession through the mind.

The seventh day comes, bringing increasing lassitude and further prostration of strength. The mind wanders.

The Coldest Place in the World.

Werchesjansk, Siberia, is considered the northern pole of cold, or place of greatest cold in the northern hemisphere. A temperature of 69.8 degrees centigrade below zero (the freezing point of water) has been observed there, but the Russian painter, Borissow, has found a temperature of 70 degrees centigrade below zero registered on a minimum thermometer left by an Austrian exploring expedition in 1872 in the straits of Matotchkin, Nova Zembla. Another maximum thermometer registered 24 degrees above zero centigrade as the highest temperature since 1872. Apparently the place has a good title to be regarded as the pole of cold.

Three out of every twenty children that are born to British parents in these islands of the blest do not live to the age of twelve months. Short of the wholesale extermination which was ordered by Herod it would be difficult to conceive a more ruthless massacre of the innocents. And—Rachel is not weeping for her children.—Onlooker.

courage Hilo growers, it will fine it unprofitable to keep up the flooding process.

"Organization is imperative. Fruit growers at the coast have been compelled to organize. The longer we delay here the worse for us. Organization is sure to bring better prices; better prices means larger production and larger production means better steamer service.

"We ship 7,000 bunches a month. At a tax of five cents a bunch, a fund of $350 per month would be raised. This would pay the salary of a good man at each end, and to get a capable, trustworthy man with business ability ought not to be a difficult matter.

"With the shipment of 7,000 bunches per month means $3,150 per month to encourage steamer service and $700 per month to the Hilo Railroad and draymen. With organization and proper handling, it would mean $3,000 per month, or $36,000 per year for growers, which will be spent among laborers, artisans and merchants and upbuild the entire community. But Hilo ought to ship 40,000 bunches a month, which would insure two steamers a month, $4,000 for railroad and teamsters and probably $16,000 per month for growers and laborers. An earnest effort should be made to acquaint people of all occupations (and especially those of no occupation,) of the immense benefits and advantages that may be expected from the proper development of the banana and other fruit industries in the Islands. All this can be accomplished if the banana and fruit growers will unite in an organized effort to improve conditions and encourage the industry."

A Safe Speculation.

If you have an attack of rheumatism and Chamberlain's Pain Balm gets you back to work in a few days, will it not pay for itself several times over? There is no need of suffering from rheumatism for a month or six weeks incurring the expenses of a large doctor's bill, when a few applications of this liniment, costing but a small amount will cure you. I have examined sample marked "A. B. C. Beer," St. Louis, received April, 1904, and report as follows:

This analysis was made at the request of the "HILBERT MERCANTILE CO.," the sample having been bought by me in open market. The beer was in a good state of preservation and was clear and sparkling. The chemical analysis showed that it was free from adulteration, artificial preservatives and impurities.
